Q

Aalo

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia (Redirected from Along, Arunachal Pradesh)

For the rock album, see Aalo (album).

Aalo, formerly Along, is a census town and headquarter of the West Siang district district of the Indian state of Arunachal Pradesh. It is located 220 kilometres (140 mi) from Likabali, which is at the border of Assam and Arunachal Pradesh.

It is also an Advance Landing Ground (ALG) of Indian Air Force

Culture [edit]

Mopin is the main festival that runs from 5 to 6 April. The Yomgo River Festival, held every year during peak tourist season, and lasting 3-4 days, is celebrated from 11 to 15 January. This festival is celebrated with a view to promote tourism, indigenous culture, and tradition, handloom & handicrafts

Demographics [edit]

As of 2001,[2] Along had a population of 16,834. Males constitute 56% of the population and females 44%. Aalo has an average literacy rate of 69%, higher than the national average of 59.5%; with 75% of the males and 61% of females literate. 15% of the population is under 6 years of age. The low sex ratio - 916 girls for every 1000 boys in 2001 - is cause for concern, even though it is not typical of the region.

In 2011, its population was 20,700. [1] The majority of Aalo's (formerly Along) population consists of Galo people and Galo is the main languages but a huge population of Adi consists at Aalo Town. The major religion is Donyi-Polo, followed by Christianity and small minorities of followers of Tibetan Buddhism Hinduism and Islam

Connectivity [edit]

Aalo does not have a good road network and the road which runs from north Lakhimpur to the capital city of Itanagar, connects the town of Aalo to the city, Regular bus services to Aalo run from Itanagar, Arunachal Pradesh State Transport Service (APSTS) buses are available to and from Aalo. There is a 5 hours journey by bus from Pasighat to Aalo (106 km) while from Moying (150 km) the bus will take around 6.5 hours to reach Aalo

Guwahati and Kolkata. One can take a bus or hire a taxi from North Lakhimpur or Lilabari to Aalo

Aalo has no railway and the nearest railway station is at Silapathar. A new line which connects Aalo to Silapathar through broad gauge railway was proposed and the survey has already been completed and forwarded to the railway board. [3]

Media [edit]

Along has an All India Radio Relay station known as Akashvani Along. It broadcasts on FM frequencies
